

The Playhouse Magical Jars | Wholesale Sheet

Our sensory dough jars are “Magical” because they entertain children for hours on end, and sensory play is amazingly beneficial for children- it's a win-win!

The Magical Dough is made from scratch, one batch at a time at our Magical Dough Factory in Northern California. We regularly change out the dough colors, scents and toy themes based on our creative process. We rotate through a list of popular themes throughout the year, so there's always something new and exciting available.

Therefore, keep in mind when introducing our brand to clients, jar contents and dough colors change regularly so there is no guarantee of specific themes, but the variety packs will always include a minimum of 4 themes; 2 “girly” themes and 2 gender neutral / “boyish” themes. Stores and their customers are excited to see what new themes they will get next!

Orders ship out within 7-14 days of receipt.

small parts | ages 3+

Our playdough is made in Brentwood California in small batches using kitchen ingredients. The dough is all natural and lightly scented, and it will typically last 6+ months.

We started making playdough and sensory kits in early 2020 when people were stuck at home looking for ways to entertain their kiddos. Parents would come back for more and exclaim that the jar of dough is magic! They would say their child played longer than they've ever played, and quietly, and screen free! It's a Magical Jar.

Keep your Magical Jar at the dinner table and pull it out when you are cooking or trying to get work done. Take it on the go for road trips, restaurants, or any time you need to entertain your little one. A great way to build sensory play into each day!
